

The four diagrams illustrate different basketball drills for a 2v2 game:

- Diagram 1: Shows a drill where two players (red and blue) are positioned in front of a basket. A ball is passed between them, and then a dashed arrow indicates a pass to a basket labeled 'A'.
- Diagram 2: Shows a drill where two players (red and blue) are positioned in front of a basket. A ball is passed between them, and then a dashed arrow indicates a pass to a basket labeled 'A'.
- Diagram 3: Shows a drill where two players (red and blue) are positioned in front of a basket. A ball is passed between them, and then a dashed arrow indicates a pass to a basket labeled 'A'.
- Diagram 4: Shows a drill where two players (red and blue) are positioned in front of a basket. A ball is passed between them, and then a dashed arrow indicates a pass to a basket labeled 'A'.
